TEN DOLLARS REWARD.

RAN away from the subscriber, living in Clarke county, at the Boulton Furnace; a Negro Man named about twenty-six years of age, about five feet eight inches, round full visage of a yellowish complexion, bow legged, is apt to smile when spoken to; his hair (or wool) is near four inches long, commonly turned up before. The above negro went off about the 10th instant. He was formerly the property of Mr. John Rogers, on David's fork of Elkhoron. His clothing is a blue uncertain, as he has a number of clothes: He had on and took with him when he went away, two country linen shirts, two fine white ditto, one pair Russia sheeting trousers, one pair soldier's woollen ditto, one cushion vest, one velvet ditto, a wool hat partly new, a pair of new shoes of black leather with buckles in them. Whoever takes up and secures the above Negro in any goal so that I get him again, shall receive the above reward, and reasonable charges if brought home, paid by

John Mockbee.

NOTICE: that Licences may be had by any person for retailing wine or foreign distilled spirits within the time of Kentucky, by any person intending to take out the same agreeable to the act of Congress entitled: And act laying duties on licences for selling wines and foreign distilled spirituous liquors by retail, by applying to Thomas Marshall in Woodford county, John Finney and William Hubble of the said county, Thomas Carnell of Fayette and Stith Daniel of Jefferson county.

TWENTY DOLLARS

REWARD.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 16th ult. a negro man and woman named Phlo and Easter; the fellow about five feet 8 inches high, 30 years of age, thick set and well made, much pitted with the small-pox, a forward talkative fellow, and professes to be a kind of Baptist teacher. The girl about seventeen years old, pretty fat, and appears to be pregnant, a fear upon her left wrist, pretty high up, occasioned by a burn. Both negroes are of a yellowish complexion. They had on and took with them a variety of clothing, and will probably change them, and very likely have a pass. Whoever takes up and secures them, so that I can have them again, shall be entitled to the above reward, and all reasonable charges.

JAMES McDONALD.

Frederick county, Virginia; June 10, 1794.

Fayette county st.

To all Sheriffs and Constables in the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

WHEREAS Lewis B. Trent keeper of the public jail of this Commonwealth hath this day made oath before me James Trotter one of the justices of the peace for said county, That John Smith alias Jesse Walden who was under sentence of death, William Cox, Joshua Powell, John Colbert, John Lad, and Daniel Boyd, criminals in said jail, did on the night of the 24th instant, break and made their escape out of said jail and are now going at large.

There are therefore in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to require you and each of you in your several counties and districts, to make diligent search for them by way of hue and cry, with foot and horse men; and they or either of them so taken to commit to the jail of the county where taken, and the keeper of such jails are hereby required to receive such prisoner or prisoners into their jail and custody, and then safely keep until they can be from thence conveyed to the public jail from whence they escaped.

Given under my hand and seal at Lexington, this 25th day of October, 1794, and of the Commonwealth the Third.

(Seal) JAMES TROTTER.

JOHN CLARKE.

Lexington, Nov. 22.

PHILADELPHIA, October 22, AUTHENTIC.

THE undersigned envoy of the United States of America, has the honor of representing to the right honorable lord Grenville, his Britannic majesty's secretary of state, for the department of foreign affairs.

That a very considerable number of American vessels, have been irregularly captured, and as improperly condemned, by certain of his majesty's officers and judges.

That in various instances, these captures and condemnations, were to be conducted, and the captured placed under such unfavorable circumstances, as that, for want of the securities required, and other obstacles, no appeals were made in some cases, nor any claims in others.

The undersigned presumes, that these facts will appear from the documents which he has the honor of submitting to his lordship's consideration: and that it will not be deemed necessary at present, to particularize these cases, and their merits, or detail the circumstances which discriminate some from others.

That great and extensive injuries having thus, under colour of his majesty's authority and commission, been done to a numerous class of American merchants, the United States can for reparation have recourse only to the justice, authority and interposition of his majesty.—That the vessels and property taken and condemned, have been chiefly sold, and the proceeds divided among a great number of persons, of whom some are dead, some unable to make retribution, and others, from frequent removals, and their peculiar circumstances, not easily reached by civil process.

That as for these losses and injuries, adequate compensation, by means of judicial proceedings, has become impracticable, and considering the causes which combined to produce them, the United States confide in his majesty's justice and magnanimity, to cause such compensation to be made to these innocent sufferers, as may be consistent with equity; and the undersigned flatters himself that such principles may without difficulty be adopted, as will serve as rules, whereby to ascertain the cases, and the amount of compensation.

So grievous are the expenses and delays, attending litigated suits, to persons whose fortunes have been so materially affected, and so great is the distance of Great Britain from America, that the undersigned thinks he ought to express his anxiety, that a mode of proceeding as summary, and little expensive may be devised, as circumstances and the peculiar hardship of these cases may appear to permit and require.

And as (at least in some of these cases) it may be expedient, and necessary, as well as just, that the sentences of the courts of vice admiralty should be revised and corrected by the court of appeals here; the undersigned hopes it will appear reasonable to order that the captured in question, (who have not already been done) be their admitted to enter both their appeals and their claims.

The undersigned also finds it to be his duty to represent, that the irregularities before mentioned, extended, not only to the capture and condemnation of American vessels and property, and to unusual personal severities, but even to the imprisonment of American citizens, to serve on board of armed vessels. He forbears to dwell on the injuries done to these unfortunate individuals or on the emotions which they most naturally excite, either in the breasts of the nation to whom they belong, or of the just and humane of every country. His reliance on the justice and benevolence of his majesty, leads him to indulge a pleasing expectation, that orders will be given, that Americans, so circumstanced, be immediately liberated, and that persons honored with his majesty's commissions, do in future abstain from similar violence.

It is with cordial satisfaction that the undersigned refers to the impression which such equitable and conciliatory measures would make on the mind of the United States, and how naturally they would inspire and cherish those sentiments and dispositions which never fail to preserve, as well as to produce, respect, esteem and friendship.

(Signed) JOHN JAY.

The undersigned secretary of state has the honor to lay before the king the ministerial note which he has received from Mr. Jay, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from the United States of America, respecting the alleged irregularity of the capture and condemnation of several American vessels, and also respecting the circumstances of personal severity, by which those proceedings are stated to have been accompanied in some particular instances.

The undersigned is authorized to assure Mr. Jay, that it is his majesty's wish, that the most complete and impartial justice should be done to all the citizens of America, who may, in fact have been injured by any of the proceedings above mentioned.—All experience shews that a naval war, extending over the four quarters of the globe, must unavoidably be productive of some inconveniences to the commerce of neutral nations, and that no care can prevent some irregularities in the course of those proceedings, which are universally recognized, as resulting from the just rights incident to all belligerent powers.—But the king will always be desirous that these inconveniences and irregularities, should be as much limited, as the nature of the case will admit, and that the fullest opportunity should be given to all to prefer their complaints, and to obtain redress and compensation, where they are due.

In Mr. Jay's note, mention is made of several cases, where the parties have hitherto omitted to prefer their claims, and of others, where no appeals have been made from the sentences of condemnation pronounced in the first instance.

As to the cases of the First description, Lord Greenville apprehends that the regular course of law is still open to claimants; and that by preferring appeals to the commissioners of prize causes here, against the sentences of the courts below, the whole merits of these cases may be brought forward, and the most complete justice obtained.

In the cases of the Second description, the proceeding might, in some instances, be more difficult, from the lapse of the time usually allotted for preferring appeals.—But his majesty being anxious that no temporary or local circumstance such as those to which Mr. Jay refers in his note, should impede the course of substantial justice, he has been pleased to refer it to the proper officers to consider of a mode of enlarging the time for receiving the appeals, in those cases, in order to admit the claimants to bring their complaints before the regular court appointed for that purpose.

The undersigned has no doubt that, in this manner, a very considerable part of the injuries alleged to have been suffered by the Americans, may, if the complaints are well founded, be redressed in the usual course of judicial proceeding, at a very small expence to the parties, and without any other interposition of his majesty's government than is above stated:—until the result and effect of these proceedings shall be known, no definitive judgment can be formed, respecting the nature and extent of those cases, (if any such shall not have been practicable to obtain substantial redress in this mode.)—

But he does not hesitate to say before hand, that, if cases shall then be found to exist, to such an extent as properly to call for the interposition of government, where, without the fault of the parties complaining, they shall be unable from whatever circumstances, to procure such redress, in the ordinary course of law, as the justice of their cases may entitle them to expect, his majesty will be anxious that justice should at all events be done, and will readily enter into the discussion of the measures to be adopted, and the principles to be established, for that purpose.

With respect to all acts of personal severity and violence, as the king must entirely disapprove every such transgression, so his majesty's courts are always open for the punishment of offences of that nature; and for giving redress to the sufferers in every case where the fact can be established by satisfactory proof; nor does it appear that any case of that nature can exist, where there would be the smallest difficulty of obtaining, in that mode, substantial and exemplary justice.

On the subject of the impress, Lord Greenville has only to assure Mr. Jay, that if, in any instance, American seamen have been impressed into the king's service, it has been contrary to the king's desire; tho' such cases may have occasionally arisen from the difficulty of discriminating between British and American seamen, especially, where there so often exists an interest and intention to deceive.—Whenever any redress has been made to Lord Greenville on the subject he has never failed to receive his majesty's commands for putting it in a proper course; in order that the facts might be enquired into and ascertained; and so the intent that the persons in question might be released, if the fact appeared to be satisfactorily established.

With respect to the desire expressed by Mr. Jay, that new orders might be given with a view to prevent, as far as is possible, the giving any just ground of complaint on this head, Lord Greenville has no reason to doubt that his majesty's intentions respecting this point are already sufficiently understood by his majesty's officers employed in that service; but he has nevertheless obtained his majesty's permission to assure Mr. Jay, that instructions to the effect desired, will be renewed in consequence of his application. The undersigned avails himself with pleasure of this opportunity to renew to Mr. Jay his assurances of his sincere esteem and consideration.

(Signed) GREENVILLE.
Downing street,
1st August, 1794.

Department of state, Oct. 1794.
I hereby certify that the foregoing representation by Mr. Jay to Lord Greenville, of the 30th July, and Lord Greenville's answer of the 1st August, are truly copied from the originals on file in the office of the department of state.

GEO. TAYLOR, jun. chief clerk.

Lexington, November 29.

The following is copied from a Paul-bill printed in Pittsburg November 3.

We take the earliest opportunity of laying before our readers the following answer of his excellency Governor LEE, commander in chief of the Federal Volunteers, to the address of the Washington Committee. This we received by an express from Union Town.

Your declarations of the good intentions of the people of Washington county who have been pleased to depute you to present to me certain papers containing assurances of fidelity to government, cannot but excite the most agreeable sensations in my breast. To restore happiness to our deluded fellow citizens of this county by restoring to them the complete enjoyment of the blessings flowing from the government established by the people of the United States, is the chief object of the advance of the army under my command, and its stay here will depend on the execution of the work.

Those individuals to whom may justly be attributed the awful crisis which has arrived, among the many groundless tales which they have industriously circulated to mislead their fellow citizens in pursuit of their wicked and ambitious schemes, told them that the excessive law was odious to the people, that the administration was corrupt, that British gold and British influence swayed the measures of Congress, and that under this load of complicated guilt it was only necessary to erect the standard of opposition to government, to secure the accomplishment of your mistaken wishes.

Unfortunately for your peace, and our happiness, you believed their assertions, and a species of violence disgraced to the name and character of the United States ensued; they told you too, that no army could be brought into action against you by the government, and had the audacity to repeat their assertion even after the troops had reached their points of rendezvous.

Such was your delusion, that no counter-declaration on the part of government obtained any credit; at length you begin to discern the truth, and to know your real good.—You see a formidable force suddenly collected in obedience to the law of Congress, crossing the mountains at a very inclement season of the year, determined to subdue all who may dare to resist, and anxious to protect all who submit to the constitution and laws.

Henceforward you cannot credit the tales of the vicious and designing, because your experience of their baseness and falsehood is so impressive and solemn as to leave no doubt in your minds of the perils to which they have exposed your lives and fortunes. Deserve wisdom from experience, confide not in the man who courts your respect by defaming your government, and be as sincere in your active endeavors to restore order, as you are warm in your professions to do so: then will my task be easy, and your future felicity certain.

Return to your country and assure your fellow citizens that no man will receive injury either in person or property from the army: I desire them to bring to our camp all the necessities of life they may have to spare, for which promise them from me a fair price in cash. Tell them it is the pride, as it is the duty of all my fellow citizens in arms with me to maintain, and not to violate the laws of our country, and tell them further that such is the positive injunction of the President of the United States: at the same time mention to all, my expectation that exactions in price will not be attempted by any, because it would not only manifest a want of sincerity in the professions of friendship which have been made on the part of the inhabitants, but would convey a desire to deprive the troops of those articles essential not only to their comfort but to their health, to which deprivation no consideration can induce me to submit them.

BY TESTERDAY'S MAIL.

NEW-YORK, November 1.

The Brig Fox, arrived yesterday from Antigua, brings intelligence of October 13, which contains the following important article:

"That upwards of seventy transports have arrived at Spithead with British troops from Holland, to visit the continental war seems now to be entirely abandoned."

The same paper mentions the arrival of the Brig Governor Johnson, in five weeks from London, which gives September 3, for the day of his departure—this vessel reports that twenty-five transports with troops lay at Cowes, ready to sail for the Indies, and that Lord Howe's fleet of thirty-five Gilt of the line, and five frigates lay in the bay.

This paper also contains the following important articles:

"The British Camp at Guadaloupe has capitulated; and we understand the French and little army are to be sent to England, nor to serve against the French during the present war."

"By the last vessels from Guadaloupe, we are informed that the French were within a very few miles of Baltimore."

Thus is all Guadaloupe in the hands of the Armignoles: a circumstance which must considerably affect the politics of the British cabinet—but doubtless the royal edicts will still consider this place in a state of siege.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.

Sunday last arrived the ship Manchester, Captain Cox, in fifty-two days from Liverpool. A gentleman who came passenger in this vessel says, that the French have taken Quenoy, Valenciennes, Comde, Strya, Breda and Bergenop Zoom, and were pushing on to Amsterdam, where it was expected they would have little resistance, as great numbers of patriots were ready to join them. He continues the taking of St. Sebastian &c. with the additional conquest of Bilbao—Stocks kept up in London through the amazing influx of money and plate from Holland—Lord Howe was at sea, with twenty-eight sail of the line. The Portuguese squadron was returning to Lisbon. This gentleman has brought letters from Mr. Jay to the Secretary of State.

Monday last being appointed for the meeting of the Congress of the United States, a number of the Members of both Houses assembled in this city, but not being a quorum adjourned till this day.

Ma. Bradford:

IT has been propagated by design or mistake or some other way, that I have quit keeping entertainment, by which means I have lost custom.—I would therefore thank you to insert in your next paper that I continue keeping entertainment in Bairdstown, where I keep as good every thing as this place affords, together with civil usage.

October 28.

Fayette County.
To all Sheriffs and Constables in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

WHEREAS James B. Brent, keeper of the public jail of this Commonwealth, did this day make oath before me, one of the justices of the peace for said county, that Thomas Kennedy of Madison county, a criminal in said jail, did on the night of the 12th inst. break & make his escape therefrom, & is now going at large.

These are therefore, in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, to require you and each of you in your respective counties and districts to make diligent search for the said Thomas Kennedy by way of hue and cry, as well with foot as horsemen, and if taken to commit to the jail of the county where taken, and said jailer is hereby required to receive said prisoner into his jail and custody, and him safely to keep until he can be from thence conveyed to the said public jail from whence he escaped.

Given under my hand and seal at Lexington this 13th day of November 1794.

(Seal) JAMES TROTTER.
